CAN POLICE PULL YOU OVER?

A traffic stop requires legal justification

Michigan police generally need reasonable suspicion of a traffic violation or criminal activity to initiate a stop. Probable cause may be required for further enforcement actions, depending on the circumstances.

SOBRIETY TESTS AREN'T ALL THE SAME

Field sobriety tests and chemical tests have different rules

Michigan law distinguishes between roadside testing and chemical testing, such as breath, blood, or urine tests. Your legal obligations can depend on the type of test and the circumstances of the stop.

Know the difference before you find yourself in this situation.

“I've only had a couple of drinks” isn't a legal defense.

- Alcohol affects everyone differently.
- What you say to police may become evidence.
- Stay calm and avoid arguing during a traffic stop.
